A CONFESION.
Do you suppose if all the world, some day, should come and stand beside my grave and say: "Here lies one who can never be forgot, I would care ought for it, if you came not?"

But if alone you came and said, with tears, "Here lies one that I loved"—ah then the years since we had met would quickly fade away, and heaven for me be reconced from that day Henriette Christian Wright in the November Scribner.

Editorial Notes.

KANSAS is taking a sweet revenge on Illinois—shipping her apples.

Inter-Ocean. Kansas leads all the States of the Union in railroad building the past year.

The Lawrence gas drill, at a depth of 1,000 feet, has reached a vein of marble—an unusual, but at that depth not a valuable find.

The finest fountain in the United States is the Meade Center artesian well, which throws its water to a height of 40 feet above the ground.

The anarchists are hanged, not because they entertained opinions but because they committed murder. This is a distinction that should not be lost sight of.

The contest in this city last Tuesday was for home and Sunday against beer and booze.—Philadelphia Press.

And, as usual, the democratic party represented beer and booze.

THE business of the Garden City land office does not seem to indicate any great falling off in the rush to that part of the State. The receipts for the last quarter were $340,000.

ONLY $270,500 of the outstanding State bonds of Kansas are held by individuals or corporations, the remainder $544,500 being owned by the State school fund. No wonder Kansas credit is above par.

THE Hutchinson salt company is getting down to business. Three carloads of machinery for sinking a shaft, have already been ordered and work is planned that will require 125 carloads of building material.

All prophets agree that the coming year will be one of the most prosperous Kansas has ever known. "Speed the parting, welcome the coming guest," and the sooner the change is made the better we will all like it.

THE Eureka Democratic Messenger quotes the Ottawa Herald as a republican paper. The idea that a paper whose editor is postmaster could be republican in these piping times of civil service reform! Morgan, you amaze us.

Burlington Nonpareil. T. N. Bell dehorned 29 head of two-year-old steers last Monday. Mr. Bell says they will eat hay two minutes after the operation is performed. He used a pair of pruning shears and cut a quarter of an inch below the hide.

The assessed value of cattle in Texas shows a decrease of $6,000,000 from last year. This is making progress the wrong way.—Commonwealth.

It is another sign, added to the many already given, that cattle will be good property next year. Hang on to your cattle.

EDWARD C. WELLES, of Cherokee county, a prominent member of the Legislature of 1885 and 1886, has been appointed by the President to the office of consul at Sonneberg, Germany. Mr. Welles was born and educated in Germany and the appointment is in every way a fitting one.

FIVE Englishmen have been arrested in Paris, France, charged with forging securities from the Southern Railroad company of Kansas. We regret the depravity of the forgers; but it is some comfort to reflect that their crime has given Kansas another advertisement.

THE poetry in the Christmas Scribner's will be very richly illustrated from fine imaginative drawing by eminent artists. Austin Dobson, Robert Louis Stevenson, Elizabeth Akers, Edith M. Thomas and Louise Imogene Guiney are among the poets represented.

"THE meanest, shallowest, most contemptible organization in all this country," says the Augusta, Ga., Gazette, "is that which poses under the pompous name of the Grand Army of the Republic. It is an aggregation of leeches, hypocrites and dead beats."

We are not surprised to learn that the Gazette is supporting for President and Vice-President in 1892, Grover Cleveland and John B. Gordon.

Peoria Journal: Indianapolis cheered itself hoarse over the President and was wild with delight over his wife, and then it went off and voted the straight republican ticket with such unanimity that it has jarred the back teeth in the jaws of every democrat in the land.

It is virtually settled that the Rev. Charles A. Berry, of Wolverhampton, England, is to be called to Plymouth Church as its pastor. The task set before Mr. Berry is not an easy or a pleasant one. It will certainly be embarrassing to be constantly compared with one who was incomparable.

THE New York Sun says of certain noted republicans: Ingalls is an electric battery suddenly turned on, Edmunds a chisel, John Sherman a logical cold bath, George Hoar a cracked music box, Evarts an endless chain, and Allison an old well sweep, not expedient, but fetching up good water when it gets to work.

THE Wichita Eagle is now printed on the first web perfecting machine ever set up in the State of Kansas. The press was built by Walter Scott & Co., to order, and has been pronounced by Chicago pressmen the finest printing machine ever built for any western city. Its capacity being 200 papers per minute.

THERE is a man now living at Friendship, New York, who was imprisoned from 1844 to 1863 and during all that time was whipped regularly every month, receiving all told 30,000 lashes on his bare back. His name is Calvin Fairbanks, and the "crime" for which he suffered this penalty was assisting 100 negro slaves to escape from Kentucky.

EL Dorado Republican: While ten towns watch for chances one town makes chances. While ten towns watch for something to turn up, one turns something up; so while ten fail to become of any importance, one succeeds and is called a lucky town, the favorite of fortune. There is no luck like pluck, and fortune must favor those who are most indifferent to fortune.

THE LeRoy Reporter assumes to think that the law against split tickets was gotten up to head off republican bolters. The Reporter deceives itself. The law was gotten up to head off democratic tricksters and from the universal howl that is going up about it from the democratic organs, it seems in a fair way to accomplish its purpose. "It is the stuck pig that squeals," as our friend Solomon used to tell us.

CRAWFORD county claims to have a seven-inch vein of shoe blacking.—Abilene Gazette.

Keep right on boring. There's no telling when a vein of apple butter may be reached.—Topeka Journal.

That is just what we are doing down here with strong indications of striking a subterranean lake of maple syrup, dotted here and there with floating islands of buckwheat cakes.—Arkansas City Traveler.

We believe the Traveler is joking. It's agin natur' that buckwheat cakes should be found in the bowels of the earth, and the Traveler knows it.

We hear a good deal these days about shrewd real estate deals, but after all the best bargains in that line ever made in this country were made by Uncle Sam himself. In 1803 for example, he bought Louisiana—which then included the States and Territories of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Indian Territory, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and most of Colorado and Wyoming—for $15,000,000. Suppose the old man had held on to this "little neck o' woods" until now; what a margin he would have made over the original investment!

Sprig of Myrtle: Bro. J. P. Wilson, a member of Welcome Lodge No. 112, Centralia, went insane at St. Louis some time ago, while on his way East. The police notified the lodge, who went for him at once, kept him and took care of him for almost two months until he was finally sent to the State Asylum at Topeka, where he is at this time. The expense connected with this action was very heavy, and exhausted the treasury of the lodge.

WELCOME No. 112 did more for the unfortunate Brother than the laws require of them—more than many a man would do for another son of his mother. But such is Pythianism.

but it was more wise for him to go back to Congress. This was, and is, unkind in Mr. Smith, who, although a resident of Linn county, is working to secure the nomination of Billy Rice two years hence. Home loyalty would lead him to support Hon. Richard Blue or Colonel Snoddy, but unfortunately Ed seems wedded to the Bourbon county statesman, and has sacrificed his friend Furness. This is unfortunate, as should Mr. Brengle, of Johnson accede to the wishes of his friends and enter the lists against Mr. Funston next year, then that gentleman may lose both positions, the one he now holds and the one he so covets.

Now that A. W. Smith, of McPherson, is out of the way as a farmer's candidate, the field seems clear to Mr. Funston, who is asked to sacrifice himself.

THERE WILL BE NO WAR.

AN anarchist orator, E. E. Scoville, by name, speaking in New York the other day said, "If Spies and his brethren are hanged next Friday, I warn this country to prepare for something thousands of times worse than our late civil war." At this writing it is not known whether or not Spies and his fellow murderers will be hanged on the day this paper is issued; but if they are nobody needs tremble for fear of civil war. The jawmelters who have been filling the air with their howlings these past few months know little of the temper of the American people. Coming, most of them, from countries where the slightest whisper against the constituted authorities is promptly silenced by the dungeon or the scaffold they apparently think a nation must be cowed and fearful that permits the most violent attacks upon its civil and social institutions to pass unrebuked. They seem to take our silence either for consent or for terror, thinking that we agree with them or are afraid of them. What a terrible awakening is in store for them when they conclude—if they ever do—to quit talking and go to acting! "In five minutes" as Noble Prentiss remarks, "they will find out more about the temper of the mass of the American people than they ever knew before." They will find out that the silence they had taken for fear or acquiescence, was only the calm self-restraint of a strong man conscious of his strength. They will find out what a terrible thing is the righteous wrath of a mighty nation.

There will be no civil war. There may be a few bombs thrown; but only a few. For there are many lamp posts and they may bear strange fruit. "In an emergency," to quote Prentiss again, "the American acts with promptitude; he does not wait always for the judge to get on the bench, and the criminal lawyers' to assemble together, and accumulate a jury of the requisite density of ignorance. He takes the self-convicted criminal in hand without the interposition of these gentlemen, and hangs him until he is quite as dead as he could be made by any process out of any court."

That is precisely what will happen in this country when parties who preach robbery and murder by bombs, dynamite or other weapons, undertake to practice it, and court and governors fall in their duty to punish them. If Governor Oglesby does not hang the seven at Chicago next Friday, he will hasten the day when a vigilance committee will hang a hundred such. "Free speech" is all right; fools are free; the ladies can send on the bouquet; preachers can even tell us that Jesus loves dynamites; but there is a great mass of quiet people who say nothing now, but who will be heard from when it comes to the plain matter of protecting men, women and children from assassins, and property from robbers, and when that great body speaks, demagogues and pettifoggers, and truckling politicians, and cowardly officials and a lot of silly, whimpering encouragers of crime, will wonder why they did not think of the great American people before.

NOT FATEFUL.

We are glad to note that the REGISTER's opinion as to Prof. Swenson's right to a patent to the processes discovered by him for the manufacture of sorghum sugar, is sustained by good authority, as will be seen by the following letter:

U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE.
COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27, 1887.
Hon. John A. Anderson, Manhattan, Kansas.

DEAR SIR: Your letter has been duly received. I coincide in your views in regard to the matter of obtaining a patent for making sugar from sorghum. The work at Ft. Scott has been done under a superintendent employed by the government, but aside from that I do not think the process is patentable. I have already had a conference with the Commissioner of Patents in regard to this matter, and am glad to know that you have likewise called his attention to it. The experiments have been conducted by the government for the benefit of the people; and so far as I have in my power they shall derive the benefit without paying a royalty to any one.

Very respectfully,
NORMAN J. COLMAN,
Comm. of Agriculture.

Only those who have suffered from sick headache know how distressing it is and how to sympathize with others who have to endure its tortures. When ever you have sick headache, take St. Patrick's pills, they are small, easy to take and warranted to cure in all cases they are a pleasant physic, just such as most persons want.
